

Jessica's restaurant

If you can't stand the heat, get in the Kitchen – it's lovely!!!

Celsius have installed a Celsius Evaporative cooling system in Birmingham's only Michelin starred restaurant, Jessica's in Edgbaston.

The Celsius system works fantastically and has less than one tenth of the running cost of a comparable air conditioning system.

Air conditioning running costs are high in kitchen areas due to the extraction systems removing the majority of the conditioned air, therefore, this makes Evaporative cooling perfect for kitchen areas as Evaporative cooling is a full loss system and the extraction for the Evaporate cooling system is provided by the cooking hoods in the kitchen.

The Evaporative cooling system was half the cost to installed compared to an air conditioning solution.

Temperatures used to regularly top 40C<sub>o</sub> in the Kitchen, they are now a comfortable 21C<sub>o</sub> year round.

Owner, Keith Stephenson, said of the installation:-

"The kitchen is now a pleasure for the staff to work in, Celsius did a great job and we're very happy with the installation, it was done in no time, their engineers were fantastic" – high praise indeed!!!
