

TASTE EXPERTS REACH OUT TO COOLING EXPERTS

Graze are a UK based snack company which offer over 200 snack combinations through subscription boxes. The company distributes thousands of healthy snack boxes per day across the country.

Their main production facility based in Hayes, London was experiencing high summertime temperatures particularly above a mezzanine in the picking and packing area. Graze got in touch with Celsius to look at designing and installing a suitable cooling solution for the area.

Celsius installed 2 EcoCooling Evaporative Coolers balanced with 2 Celsius wall mounted extraction units. With each system rated at 35kw of cooling, the design was able to comfortably meet the requirements and drastically reduce the working temperatures.

Graze requested each system had air socks fitted, to help disperse the chilled input air more evenly across the area. Celsius were able to accommodate incorporate this request into their design.

Celsius undertook the complete installation with no downtime in a live Production area.
